Swedish Plane Downed

Shot Up by Reds
Survivors Claim

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 16 (AP)—An unarmed Swedish military plane was shot down today by two Russian Mig-15 fighters but its seven-man crew was rescued later at sea by a German merchant ship, the Swedish Air Force command announced.

Two of the crew reported wounded. The men said they had been attacked seven times by the Russians.

The plane, a slow-flying, unarmed Catalina rescue boat, had been searching for a Swedish air force transport missing since Friday with eight men aboard. It was feared that his plane, too, had been downed by the Russians, reported holding vast air sea manoeuvres off the Soviet Baltic coast.

Sweden made a strong protest to Russia over the shooting down of the plane in the Baltic about 60 miles off the Estonian coast. It was received at the Swedish Foreign Office by Soviet Ambassador Constantin Rodionov.

ENVOY JEERED
Angry Swedes gathered outside the Soviet Embassy, jeered Rodionov and spat into the embassy compound.

News that the airmen had been rescued spread joy through Stockholm. Previous reports told of empty life rafts found about 95 miles off the coast, in the area where the Catalina was attacked. This caused the air force to say that it believed the seven men aboard were lost. But an extensive air and sea search was ordered.

The pilot of the Catalina radioed he was fired upon and hit by two Red Jets and was trying to make it back to Sweden. Another Swedish plane saw the Catalina a few minutes later flying low in a westerly direction.

The pilot had reported his position at the time of the attack as 30 miles northwest of the Russian-held island of Hailu. That position is about 110 miles east of the Swedish coast.

CLAXTON'S SON DROWNED ON FISHING TRIP

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP)—David Claxton, 22-year-old son of Defense Minister Claxton, was drowned Saturday night while fishing in fast-running waters in Labrador.

Information reaching the defense minister was skimpy. It was understood the third-year medical student from Montreal's McGill University was wading in Guy's River near Knobb Lake in the iron ore project in Labrador.

He stumbled on slippery stones. The body has not yet been recovered.

The defense minister still intends to fly to Washington to confer with U.S. Secretary of the Army Frank Pace.

Brooke Claxton will confer with Pace on the Korean and European situations among other highly important matters.

Next Thursday he is scheduled to meet with Britain's defense minister, Lord Alexander, who is returning from a trip to Korea.

Murder Charge Faces Young Vancouver Man

VANCOUVER, June 16 (CP)—A Vancouver youth was charged with murder Sunday night after a man on an outing from a home for the aged and needy was beaten to death with a whisky bottle.

The charge was laid against Alex Viatkin, 24, who gave his occupation as an engineer when he was arrested Saturday night by detective sergeants Peter Lamont and Percy Easler.

It follows the death of Joseph H. Hyland, 58, whose body was found early Saturday in the washroom of an all-night cafe on East Hastings Street.

Hyland, a janitor by trade but unemployed, had lived for about a year at St. Vincent's Home and Shelter, operated by the Grey Nuns.

A "woman in black," reported to have been seen with three companions and Hyland shortly before his body was discovered, was questioned Sunday but later released.

Robbery was given by detectives as the motive for the attack on Hyland.

MALIK CALLS GERM WARFARE MEET FOR U.N.

Soviet Charges To Be Heard Wednesday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., June 16 (AP)—Russian delegate Jakob A. Malik today called a meeting of the United Nations Security Council for Wednesday at 3 p.m., E.D.T., to discuss Soviet charges that the U.N. is carrying on germ warfare in Korea.

The Soviet Union apparently thus decided to air its charges of germ warfare in the Security Council after failing to obtain any action in the U.N. disarmament commission.

The United States and other U.N. countries have repeatedly denied such charges and have in fact challenged Malik to take such action.

Malik, June chairman of the 11-nation security council, also placed on the agenda of this meeting the issue of new members. The great powers were asked by the U.N. Assembly in Paris to reconsider the application of 14 countries. This step is in response to that request. There has been no change in the stalemate on new members.

Malik's decision to call this meeting recalled his dramatic series of council meetings in August, 1950, when the Korean war was the hot issue.

Nothing was done by the council during that month, except argue, and the council eventually dropped the Korean war from its agenda.

Malik charged that the United Nations was waging germ warfare in Korea and China. The disarmament commission finally voted him out of order, saying that the commission was set up to discuss disarmament only.

Malik's term as council chairman ends June 30. He will be succeeded by Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain.

B.C. Election Candidate in Hospital Bed

VANCOUVER, June 16 (CP)—Vancouver lawyer G. Stanley Miller, a Liberal candidate in Point Grey riding, is in St. Paul's hospital recovering from a heart attack suffered Saturday at his home.

Hospital authorities said his condition is fairly good. The long-time member and now chairman of the Vancouver Library Board trails Social Credit Mrs. Tilly Rolston on the Point Grey ballot.

First reports confused him with Alderman George Miller, Progressive Conservative candidate in the same riding. Alderman Miller quickly reported in from his Bowen Island summer home in good health.

Navy P.O.'s Are Fathers for a Day

R.C.N. Petty Officers in residence at the P.O.'s Mess, H.M.C.S. Naden, decided they would not let Father's Day go by unnoticed. So they invited 17 young guests for dinner, from the B.C. Protestant Orphans' Home. After dinner on Sunday, "fathers" and "children" went on a tour

Standings Changed as Tally Continues; H. Winch Elected

Unofficial standings in British Columbia's general election took a switch around today as more counts were completed.

They showed that the Social Credit party has elected three members on the first count and the C.C.F. two.

The C.C.F. are leading in 19 other ridings and the Social Credit in 11.

Liberals continue to lead in nine ridings and Progressive Conservatives in three, and Tom Uphill, Labor, Fernie, in his riding.

The change in elected members comes about because completion of first count did not show the complete overall majority needed to elect as was indicated in earlier concessions.

North Okanagan was one where Shantz, S.C., had a final of 4,298 votes against a combined total of 4,953 for three opponents. He will need to pick up the needed balance on second counts to win. Dewdney is another seat which moves from the elected back to the leading column. In Cariboo, a nearly complete tally shows a first count win for Chetwynd, S.C.

On the C.C.F. side, Ernest W. Winch, Burnaby, also is a few votes short of a complete majority in latest figures available, although this final election is considered certain. The first count has not been finished there.

Canadian Press reports that C.C.F. leader Harold Winch was declared elected in Vancouver East today.

Arthur Turner, Mr. Winch's running-mate in the riding, was also elected. Both had clear majorities on the first count under the alternative voting system.

Mr. Winch was the first party leader to be assured of a seat in the new legislature. Liberal Premier Byron Johnson had only a three-vote lead over a C.C.F. candidate in New Westminster at completion of the first count while Progressive Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb was trailing Liberal Archie Gibbs in Oak Bay by more than 1,000 votes.

1,500 Victoria Workers Involved in Stoppage

Close to 32,000 loggers and millworkers—1,500 of them in the Victoria district—failed to turn up for work this morning. The I.W.A. strike, called for midnight Saturday, was under way.

There was no confusion at Victoria's mills. Pickets went to work at 7 a.m. and one hour later the industry was closed tight.

"Everybody went out in good order," said Ed Haw, organizer for Victoria Local 1-118 of the International Woodworkers of America. "Everyone in the union feels we have done the right thing."

Both union and management of B.C.'s backbone industry, which accounts for nearly 55 cents of every dollar earned in the province, are willing to resume negotiations at short notice but only on their own terms.

TO REOPEN TALKS
Forest Industrial Relations Ltd. representing 163 operators, said it will reopen contract talks when union representatives "comply with the law" and call off the strike.

"The policy committee can be brought together any time Forest says."

Industrial Relations wants to resume negotiations," said Stewart Ashbury, district president of the I.W.A.

An F.I.R. Ltd. spokesman has charged that the union's "no contract, no work" policy makes meaningless a continuing clause in the 1951 master contract which provides that if no agreement is reached by the contract expiry date—in this case June 14—then work continues until a government-supervised strike vote is taken.

"It is a deliberate breach of contract and against the law," he said.

The Labor Relations Board was silent today.

On Saturday the board announced it was dropping charges it was prepared to lay against both parties in the dispute for "failure to bargain collectively," and was arranging for a government-supervised strike vote to be held June 19 if it became necessary.

The union, however, stands by its own vote which it completed Thursday, and which showed at least 80 per cent of the membership in favor of strike action to support its policy committee.

According to the I.C. and A. Act, "no persons shall declare or authorize a strike and no employee shall strike until after a vote of the employees in the unit affected as to whether to strike or not to strike has been taken and the majority of such employees who vote have voted in favor of a strike."

Full impact of the industry-wide strike, in which $500,000 in wages will be lost every day, is expected to be felt shortly.

Longshoremen will respect picket lines at Ogden Point docks and, according to union men, all lumber now standing at the dock will be "hot."

Building trades have been affected by the closure at B.C. Forest Products mill, where new construction was under way, and they will feel the strike more drastically as supplies are cut off.

One ship was being loaded at Ogden Point today from scows only, and agents are still in the dark regarding what to do with four ships scheduled here this week for lumber cargoes.

Most contentious point in the two-month-long negotiations that have now collapsed was the union's demand for a 35-cent hourly increase.

Operators said they wanted a 12½ per cent cut in some classifications, but agreed to a conciliation board recommendation to maintain present wages.

R.C.M.P. Probe
BRILLIANT, B.C., June 16 (CP)—R.C.M.P. here are investigating the possibility that Sons of Freedom Doukhobor terrorists started a fire which caused $50,000 damage early Sunday when it destroyed a planing mill and stacked lumber.

SLAYER CONFESSES

British Spy Heroine Murdered in Hotel

LONDON, June 16 (Reuters)—Christine Granville, 37, diminutive, blonde who was decorated as a British secret agent during the Second World War, was stabbed to death in a London hotel last night.

Police today questioned Dennis Muldowney, 41, in connection with the slaying.

When Muldowney appeared in court and was charged with murder, Chief Inspector G. W. Jennings of Scotland Yard said the man, a porter, had confessed.

"I killed her. Let's get away from here and get it over," he said.

quickly," Muldowney was quoted as having said.

Mrs. Granville, a native of Poland was awarded the George Medal and created an O.B.E. for her underground fight against the Gestapo.

A widow who shunned publicity because she felt she had many enemies who might harm her if they could, Mrs. Granville set up headquarters in Hungary shortly after Hitler invaded Poland.

From there she made several crossings on foot into Poland and established an escape route for people fleeing the Germans. She was arrested twice by the Gestapo but escaped.

Eventually she went to Palestine and trained as a parachutist, later dropping into France where she worked with the French resistance.

Once she walked into a Gestapo headquarters and bluffed an official into releasing three British officers. She also helped dynamite bridges and derail trains.

She was stabbed in the chest late last night with a foot-long knife in the Shelbourne Hotel in London's respectable Kensington district. Neighbors reported a man had followed her into the hotel a short time before her screams were heard.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

If there are sons or daughters in their teens in your house, chances are you've heard at least one valedictory during the last few days. Someone in their school has been saying farewell to classmates to the buildings and rooms that have housed them, to the teachers who have helped them, and to the traditions which have surrounded them in the years that lie behind.

Stott

It's an awkward period, full of sentiments that young people don't like to expose. They try to put into words the feelings which are very secret with them—and they try, with varying success, to formalize their expressions so they'll sound much more mature than they are, much more worldly, and yet sincere.

To an earlier generation there have been similar periods of stress. Today's fathers will remember them—the day they wore long pants for the first time, the evening they took out their first date.

Maybe the simile is obsolete now, but the valedictorian this year, like the valedictorian of years ago, is dressing his reactions in long pants for the first time. For some it's easy. They have an aplomb their fathers lacked. More often than not they have a certain platform presence. But it's still a time of some shyness.

So the young people fall back on the conventional. They use the familiar phrases, they discuss the same intangibles—and that may be reasonable enough. Virtues and enjoyments don't change so very fundamentally in a few years or a few decades.

New Cloth, Old Pattern

There is, however, an inclination to let incongruities creep into the procedure. Fathers of today's graduates and their fathers before them lived at a time when school was frequently regarded as a preparation for life, rather than life itself. Now the educationists point out that the child in the classroom is a living, breathing entity participating in life just as much as he or she may participate in years to come. School isn't considered quite so much as an incubation period now. It's part of existence.

Still, the youngsters on the platform almost invariably inject the phrase, "Now as we start on a new phase of life." It's conventional to say that. Certainly there's a difference between high school and college or high school and a job—but it's still the same life. They're going to find that a lot of its enjoyments and successes depend on the individual's ability to get along with other people, whether it be in the classroom, the lecture hall, the workshop, the store or the business.

The youngster today doesn't step through a door, previously closed to him, into a new world. That world has been pretty open and apparent for years. He knows about it as he knows the facts of life. Existence isn't camouflaged. He's not deluded by the Horatio Alger story. He's a pretty knowledgeable guy.

Humility and Youth

Maybe he's a bit too knowledgeable. A lot of the humility in the usual valedictory address won't be attained by the individual who gives it until years later.

Just the same, the valedictorian is expected to say the accepted things, to conform to the conventions, to pay his tributes and to express his dreams, if he's not too bashful. Maybe it's a pity that he should follow routine that way. He has so much more to offer.

The valedictorian has a freshness of outlook that the years will dim. He has a keen sensitivity of youth that will be dulled by time. He has an originality that experience will later mold into more formal patterns.

For the sake of the adults in the audience to which he speaks, it would be gracious if he would give expression to that freshness of outlook, that sensitivity to the world about him. It might bring back to the older folk some memory of a greener time, when life was still in the morning, when the day was a path through adventure, before it became the well-worn sidewalk of routine.

These things a valedictorian could do, but doing them would be informal. After all, graduation is an important step in the business of growing up, and for some reason formality seems to be a necessary part of the process.

U.S. Infantry Repulses Large Communist Assault on Hill

SEOUL, Korea, June 16 (AP)—Infantry of the United States 45th Division today smashed an artillery-supported Chinese attack on a hill formation on the western front. The battle has cost the Reds more than 1,000 casualties since it began five days ago.

The reinforced Americans knocked back about 750 Chinese in a bitter seven-hour scrap. The Reds' objective was the bottom part of a T-shaped hill west of Chorwon. U.S. troops hold three knobs of the hill.

Fighting also continued at a stepped-up pace at other friction spots on the 155-mile front. There were brisk clashes Sunday near Panmunjom, Korangpo and Yonchon in the west; around Kumhwa, Kinsong and the Pukhan River in the centre, and near the Punch Bowl in the east.

American Sabre jet pilots reported three Communist jets destroyed and one damaged in two fights Sunday south of the Manchurian border.

Jews and Arabs Clash in Tunis

10 Wounded as Two Factions Fight for Third Straight Day; Wheat Fields Are Set Ablaze

TUNIS, Tunisia, June 16 (AP)—Jews and Arabs clashed here today for the third straight day. Ten persons were wounded.

The clashes added new tension to a situation in which anti-French nationalist activity was being stepped up. Tunisian terrorists, adopting new tactics, set fire to wheat fields ready for harvest in a move to disrupt the economic life of this French protectorate.

The Jewish-Muslim clashes apparently were caused by Arab attempts to induce Jewish shopkeepers to join a strike touched off Friday by mysterious and contradictory reports of an attempt last week to poison Tunisia's nominal ruler, Sidi Lamine Bey, and his family. The Jews already had called their own strike, demanding police protection against the Arabs.

The newest outbreak in the old walled city—where Jews and Arabs normally live peacefully side by side—was less serious than those of the week-end. In the first outbreak Saturday, a Jew was fatally shot and several persons wounded.

The latest fight occurred when a group of young Arabs entered streets occupied mostly by Jews, and began roughhouse tactics. Rocks were hurled and fist fights broke out.

Meanwhile, French ground and air force troops were called out to fight the wheat field fires.

At least three Korean civilians were injured.

South Korean police said they suspected sabotage by guerrillas. Fires mushroomed in the area. Grey clouds of phosphorus smoke rose into the sky. Rockets shot wildly about. Exploding flames touched up the scene with bright colors. Some shells and flares flew two miles. Grass fires flamed up in the dry hills ringing the area.

The fire was gradually dying late in the day.

Bluecoat School Boys Dine on Anniversary

$25,000,000 IN BUILDINGS STRIKE-BOUND

HALIFAX, June 16 (CP)—The Halifax District Trades Council has rejected an offer of a 15-cent hourly pay increase by the Halifax Construction Association.

The rejection means that the three-week-old strike which has tied up some $25,000,000 worth of building, will continue.

The 15 cents was 2½ cents lower than recommended earlier by a three-man conciliation board. The previous offer of the construction association was 12 cents.

Unions seek a 50-cent hourly over-all boost from their present average of $1.36.

Some 5,000 members are represented by the unions.

Britain's State-Run Transport Services Show First Year Profit

LONDON, June 16 (Reuters)—Britain's state-run road and rail services today announced their first year's profit. The railways will have a first year's surplus—just as Winston Churchill's Conservative government is preparing to return their profitable freight truck service to private owners.

The Transport Commission made a net profit of £2,900,000 in 1951—first surplus since it started operations after the Labor government nationalized transportation in 1947.

During the year London's civil transportation system was the only section to show a loss. But commission officials said rising costs and wages were making it increasingly difficult to make state-run transport pay its way.

Step increases in passenger fares imposed recently in the London district are expected to be extended soon throughout Britain.

Under the government's plans for denationalizing road transport, freight operators who buy back the fleets of state-owned trucks will have to pay a main state property.

SPATE—In London, Pavel S. Kuznetsov, Russian embassy official named in a British spy charge here Saturday, is still in London, the Russian embassy said today.

Kuznetsov, second secretary at the embassy, was said in court to have been given official secrets by a British foreign office radio operator, William Martin Marshall, now under arrest.

Today's Russian statement followed a spate of rumors after a man of the same name was discovered to have sailed from London on Saturday in a Russian ship with Georgi Zarubin, retiring ambassador soon to be posted in Washington.

The embassy said this man was Victor Kuznetsov, an attaché, on his way to Moscow for a vacation.

WITHDRAWING—Canadian troops may be withdrawn from Koje Island by mid-July, it was learned today.

Maj. E. L. Cohen of Pembroke, Ont., commander of "Baker" company of the Royal Canadian Regiment, on guard duty at the big United Nations prisoner-of-war camp, said British Defense Minister Lord Alexander mentioned the target date for the Canadians' withdrawal to officers of the R.C.R. Sunday during an inspection trip through the Canadian camp.

Earlier, Cohen had been told by Maj. Gen. A. J. Cassels—Commonwealth division commander—that he proposed six-week tours of duty on Koje, rotated among companies in the Commonwealth brigades, but Cohen said Lord Alexander intimated the R.C.R. would not be relieved by Canadian troops.

CHARGES—In Munsan, Korea, the senior United Nations truce negotiator today charged the Communists with responsibility for Red prisoner-of-war riots and for continuing "a bloody and profitless war."

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison accused the Red delegates at a fruitless 22-minute session of directing captured Communists at Koje Island "to endanger their lives to further your nefarious schemes."

Hundreds of captured Reds have been killed or wounded on Koje, in Communist-led riots.

The key issue blocking a truce is the U.N. stand that no prisoner be forcibly repatriated. Only 70,000 of 169,000 captured Reds have expressed willingness to return to Red rule.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il accused the U.N. of "incessant atrocities" and "slaughtering" of war prisoners. It was the first time in five days he had made these charges.

SEAWAY

In Washington backers of a bill authorizing the controversial St. Lawrence seaway and power project may try again today to reach an agreement for a United States Senate vote. They regard their chances as slim.

Senator Allen Ellender (Dem., La.) and other proponents of the $818,000,000 international project have announced they will move to block the vote. Only one objection is necessary.

Moreover, senate leaders have said that unless a vote can be reached by tomorrow the bill—authorizing U.S. participation with Canada in building the waterway—is just about dead for this session. Other legislation appears almost sure to sidetrack it. Canada has said she will go ahead alone if the U.S. doesn't decide to take part this year.

Gerald S. Reese, 2537 Fernwood, has entered a group of model ships in the international hobby show of the Vancouver Pacific National Exhibition, Aug. 20 to Sept. 1.

U.N. STRENGTH Praised By ALEXANDER

Completes Tour Of Korean Front

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer
SEOUL, Korea, June 16 (CP)—Earl Alexander, trim and slightly sunburned, wound up his three-day tour of the Korean front tonight and said:

"I'm surprised it's as strong as I've found it."

The Field Marshal, who now is Britain's Defense Minister, covered the front extensively and was briefed at all levels.

At a press conference here Sunday he expressed confidence that any major Communist land offensive would be stopped within a week with heavy losses to the Chinese. He added, however, that enemy airpower "would certainly make the situation more difficult."

Alexander, who seemed to have thrived on a rigorous program, obviously enjoyed being back in his old element.

PRESS PRETEXTS

At a press conference Saturday, United Nations correspondents and photographers protested to Alexander over censorship restrictions that curbed coverage of his tour.

The defense minister patched things up with these words: "After all, I am a front-line soldier."

However, he promised to give them greater scope in the future. Later, newspaper men climbed the Korean hills and viewed forward positions with Alexander. In the group were photographer John Foster of Ottawa, of the National Film Board, and Sgts. Paul Tomalin of Calgary and Leonard Stevens of Vancouver, Canadian army photographers.

They listened as Alexander questioned officers and men about the Korean situation.

The press corps had quite a time keeping up with the Defense Minister. When he took to a jeep, correspondents followed, swallowing dust into the bargain. When he flew in a Beaver aircraft to his next point of inspection, the jeep-riding newspaper men raced ahead to meet him.

SERVICES IN CHURCH AS MAN SLAIN OUTSIDE

BELLINGHAM, Wash., June 16 (AP)—A 46-year-old Nook-sack Indian, Robert J. Kelly, was stabbed to death today in front of the Catholic Church on the Lummi Indian Reservation while church services were going on inside.

Frank Hildebrand, 46, also an Indian, was held for investigation. Hildebrand's wife, Emma, 50, was also held as a material witness.

Kelly, who lived at Deming, was stabbed through the throat with a hunting knife, dying almost instantly.

Steel To Be Freed for Arms Production as Strike Static

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—The government will try this week to start enough steel flowing from strike-closed United States steel mills to prevent a crippling halt in the production of weapons.

The White House announced that a four-man committee of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) had been directed by President Philip Murray to help work out an acceptable plan for meeting defense needs for steel.

Both the union and industry agreed when wage negotiations collapsed last Monday to permit sufficient steel production for essential defense items.

So far the government has announced no specific plan for this output. But a few individual steel mills have reached agreement with the steelworkers and prepared to resume operations immediately. These were independent of the big steel producers who hold a united front against the union.

Already nearly 3,500,000 tons of steel has been lost since the mills shut down, with 88 per cent of normal steel output cut off. Production had been running just under 300,000 tons a day.

There were no signs of a break in the deadlock that has made 650,000 steelworkers idle for two weeks and no new negotiations were scheduled.

The industry said the main issue is its refusal to accept the union shop under which all steelworkers should be required to join the union. Murray, however, says there are other issues.

Surplus Food Stall Will Be Opened July 5

Mrs. Barbara Green, originator of Victoria's surplus food stall in the City Public Market, said Saturday the stall will re-open July 5.

She plans to operate the stall which provides free foodstuffs to the needy, one Saturday a month until December.

Mrs. Green hopes a club or organization will take up the idea so that the stall could be opened every two weeks for the season.

A total of 110 food cards have been given to welfare agencies for distribution to needy families. Only those with cards can apply for food.

Mrs. Green said an estimated $20,000 worth of contributed foodstuffs was given away last year with as many as 150 families helped on a single day.

A good citizen award for welfare work was awarded Mrs. Green and the idea has been adopted by Lions' Club in Vancouver and the Local Council of Women in Windsor, Ont.

Rose Growers Plan Contest

A rose contest will be one of the major events of the annual summer show of the Victoria Horticultural Society at the Crystal Garden Friday and Saturday.

The most beautiful rose of the show will be selected from among hundreds of exhibits. The winner will be awarded the Oak Bay Municipality Challenge Trophy.

T. Sawyer, society official, said he expected competition will be keen this year.

"There is growing interest in roses," he said. "We hope to have one of the finest rose exhibits on display. These will include old and new varieties as well as polyantha type roses."

Mr. Sawyer said anyone with home-grown roses may bring them to the show and enter them as non-competitive exhibits.

The Alaska Highway stretches 1,523 miles from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks, with 1,221 miles in Canada.

Free Booklet Tells How Deaf Hear Again With Startling Clarity, Ease

CHICAGO (Special)—New hope for the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing was voiced by a noted Chicago acoustical scientist.

He reported that through the miracle of modern electronics it is now possible to overcome deafness even if the loss is severe.

He demonstrated how the deaf can hear again with a clarity and ease they never dreamed possible.

According to this electronic engineer, Mr. Sam Posen of Bellone, "the longer a hearing loss is neglected, the harder it is to recapture certain speech sounds and understand them."

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with what may be done to help the deaf hear again with miraculous clarity, full authoritative details about deafness and how to overcome it are described in an informative, new, illustrated booklet, which will be sent in a plain wrapper without any cost or obligation.

To obtain your free copy, simply send your request to: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 645A, Bellone Hearing Aid Co., 1480 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill. A postcard will do.

40th Anniversary

Not everyone is happy to have another personal birthday anniversary, but we believe that business anniversaries are always noted with a certain satisfaction, because they demonstrate that the firm has continued to serve well.

The individual, you see, continues to exist whether he's good or bad, useful or otherwise. With a business organization, this is not true: Only a firm with policies which meet with public approval, and win public patronage, can hope to survive.

It is with real and understandable satisfaction, therefore, that we observe this, our fortieth anniversary.

Defense Comes First

IN PROPORTION TO ITS RESOURCES Canada has contributed as much as the United States to foreign aid since the last war. This is clear from the latest figures, as summarized by Mr. Pearson, minister of external affairs. When the Canadian government is criticized for its inadequate help to foreign nations Mr. Pearson replies that between 1946 and the spring of 1952 Canada has advanced $2.4 billions to its overseas friends.

This may seem a small amount compared to the United States' massive gifts and loans of $33 billions. But the productive power of the United States is over 14 times that of Canada, the American gross product in 1951 being $305 billions and the Canadian $21 billions. By the true measurement of capacity to give Canada thus has given $33 billions, in American terms, or almost exactly the same as its neighbor.

Neither country has given too much. Considering the resources of each, the gifts have been relatively small, have caused no hardship and even with the North American defense program included, have left this continent with the highest living standard ever known. On the other hand, the defense expenditure of countries like Britain have involved cruel sacrifices, such as we have never faced.

If Canada has reason for some satisfaction after keeping proportionately abreast of the United States in foreign aid, the practical question now is whether this country will maintain its defense program on the present level or reduce it.

As the Montreal Star observes, the Canadian government will be under strong pressure between now and next budget day to ease up on defense spending and thus to reduce taxes. The government, as the Star suspects, will be peculiarly sensitive to this pressure just before a general election, and after its recent by-election reverses. High government spending and taxes are the paramount political fact of Canada today.

In his last budget Mr. Abbott said the country need expect no significant tax reductions in the visible future unless the international climate improved and justified a cut in defense spending. Since that statement was made the international climate has deteriorated and obviously is entering a new and critical period, proclaimed by sudden communist pressures all over the world. There is nothing in this situation to justify any reduction in the nation's defenses and everything to show that they must be greatly strengthened. Tax reductions will be justified in the next year only if the government can reduce non-defense spending or if its gross revenues increase, as a result of the nation's economic growth, from present tax rates.

The primary responsibility here rests with the government, which cannot escape it. But the Conservative party has a responsibility, too. It is quite right in demanding economy in government (including the defense departments), right in attacking all items of waste, however small.

When, at the same time, Mr. Drew is going about Quebec advocating large increases in family allowances and universal old age pensions at the age of 65—extra expenditures probably about equal to the present personal income tax—the opposition is being irresponsible. When it goes further and demands tax reductions in the same breath it is playing the most cynical kind of politics.

The government should economize. Like the provinces and many municipalities, it is spending too much on civilian services. But when it comes to the problem of defense, it should stand by its guns and refuse to tamper with the safety of the nation merely to make itself more popular on the eve of an election. The Canadian people, we believe, will support its defense plans and deal with those politicians who would undermine them in the hope of winning votes.

A Look at Canada

THE ST. LAURENT GOVERNMENT'S management of Canada's affairs may not satisfy all Canadians but it looks good to foreigners. Removed from the local prejudices of politics, the American press examines the affairs of this country and finds them in an enviable condition. Perhaps no nation could be as well governed as Canada appears to be in the leading publications of the United States. From one coast to the other the newspapers and magazines are telling the American government to imitate the wise policies and careful housekeeping of Ottawa.

Typical of this comment is a lengthy article in the Christian Science Monitor, one of the world's greatest newspapers, which soberly analyses the budget, tax policies and general economic health of Canada. The Monitor has no partisan interest in the St. Laurent government, takes no sides in our political controversies and is interested only in results. The results it sees in Canada are impressive—an economy in process of almost unbelievable growth, a government paying all its bills as it goes along and, as a result, the strongest currency in the world.

Like The New York Times and other influential newspapers, The Monitor thinks that the American government and Congress should learn wisdom from the policies and the administration methods of the Canadian government.

Until the last few years Canada was generally regarded in the United States as a good neighbor but a small and rather unimportant country which had no lessons to teach the American giant. The American people accepted us as friends and allies and largely ignored us. It was only when the Canadian dollar suddenly became more valuable than the American—a dramatic but pretty superficial measurement of a nation's real strength—that Canada was news south of the border.

With their usual generosity and enthusiasm, the Americans who once rated Canada too low, are inclined now to rate it too high. Probably we are not as intelligent in our public affairs as many Americans imagine. Probably no government of human beings could be quite as good as the government of Mr. St. Laurent appears in many American newspapers.

Nevertheless, this kind of comment, even if too generous, is a valuable corrective for Canadians who are so concerned with the trees of local politics that they neglect the forest of national affairs which have never been in better condition. At their distance the Americans don't see the trees. They see the forest and are amazed by what they see.

Whatever Canadians may think, most foreigners would agree that this is the most fortunate nation in the world today. This results mainly from the character, energy and good sense of the Canadian people, not from the direction of its government. However, if things were different the government assuredly would be blamed. It is entitled to some credit when the nation prospers and progresses in even more important directions. Assuredly it gets that credit in abundant measure from foreigners.

History Made In The Commons

OBSCURED PERHAPS BY THE intensity of local political happenings, Canada on Thursday took a major step in her constitutional history. Parliament approved the first change to be made in the constitution since she took over full control of her own destiny from the British House of Commons.

Although for many years the London influence had been purely formal—Parliament readily made any changes requested by Ottawa—still full autonomy in the legal sense was not a fact.

That situation was remedied some months ago with the result that legislation permitting a revision of representation in the Canadian Commons was voted on last week by the federal members.

The exact relationship between Britain and Canada has long been a puzzle to foreigners and not entirely understood by many Canadians themselves.

United States observers, for instance, find it difficult to comprehend that the United Kingdom does not exert direct control on this country, that Canada is not "owned" by Britain, or that legislation originating in Westminster has long ceased to be directly binding on this country.

The tenuous, yet steel-strong ties that unite Britain and Canada, as well as other members of the Commonwealth, depend not upon formal agreement, legal persuasion or written contract. They derive rather from intangible strengths—allegiance to or recognition of a common Crown, a joint community of democratic ideals, a sharing of historic tradition and origin, a partnership of hand and heart.

It is for these reasons that Canada's ability now to provide her own last recourse in appeal courts and to change at will the prime charter of her political existence in no way weakens the Commonwealth relationship. We are now observing in the letter what we have so long observed in the spirit, and both the letter and the spirit are thereby strengthened.

A Clergyman Speaks for Divorce Reform

DR. J. L. W. McLEAN, OF VICTORIA, has spoken plainly in Toronto of Canada's divorce laws. At the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the pastor of St. Andrews here describes conditions in British Columbia as a standing scandal.

Persons, he said, had confessed to him of collusion and perjury in divorce cases. "With adultery the only cause for divorce in Canada," The Canadian Press report of his remarks states, "persons determined to sever their ties were stooping to all sorts of subterfuge which was being winked at by the law courts."

That contention has been voiced before. There have been occasions, it should be noted, on which judges have thrown cases out because of obvious collusion, and there have been other instances in which evidence must have been accepted with some reservations by presiding judges.

This is not a new story. Its repetition by a clergyman, however, does lend emphasis to the fact that our present divorce laws are outmoded and degrading. Because divorces are granted as they are in some actions, a cynical attitude is adopted to this section of our laws. That, in itself, is a serious detriment to Canadian law in general. It is not the popular wish, in our opinion, to relax divorce laws to a point at which frivolous grounds may be sufficient to permit dissolution of a marriage. At the same time the existing laws are not good enough. Unless amendments are made the disgrace and double dealing of our divorce proceedings will continue to remain what Dr. McLean calls them, "a standing scandal."

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

I HAVE a friend who hires a most engaging young baby-sitter. This sitter is permitted to ask her boyfriend to sit with her, since he is a permanent boyfriend and a responsible type. He is not one of those repulsive little youths that the ordinary sitter invites to come in and share her employer's groceries, cigarettes, candy, and wine-cellar. He's a thoroughly nice bloke, almost as nice as the sitter herself. He hasn't a very good job, but he and the sitter hope to get married without too horrible a delay. Here's luck to them.

Brock

THE other night they were whiling away the long hours of sitting by doing some rough calculations on what it might cost to set up house. When my friend was cleaning out her fireplace next morning, she found the following document. It wasn't dishonest of her to read it, because it was so short, she'd read it all before she knew what the devil it was and who the devil it belonged to. It said:

HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES
Kitchen chairs $ 4.00
Kitchen table 4.00
Bedroom suite 50.00

Either that boy is a genius at picking up bargains, or he doesn't know what he's in for. These items are priced a bit low, I fancy. Also, one can think of other items, worse luck. Household expenses aren't as easy as all that.

AND yet . . . and yet . . . sometimes I wish I was back in the days when the Missus and I thought everything was going to be that simple. Mind you, I'm having a lovely time in middle age, and on the whole I'm both calmer and wiser than I was . . . which isn't saying much. But one great advantage of being so innocent and hopeful is that you don't want to cry when you detect other couples being innocent and hopeful.

MORE SPYING

I DID some snooping and spying on the young myself last month. My children's school had an Open House. The parents were supposed to come and visit the teachers and the classrooms, and to believe that the ordinary daily grind at that school was one whirl of flowers, pictures, smiles, songs, and encouragement. Some of the parents did believe this, and went home relieved. Others went home asking when the hell any teaching got done.

Some of us were glad to see that life at the old schoolhouse wasn't all arithmetic, and some of us were aghast to see kids who had devoted many weeks to making puppets at the taxpayers' expense. It all depends on how you look at it. Myself, I went home with a badly split personality, because I was upset to see half the teachers smiling in a foolish manner, and upset to see the other half scowling in a sadistic manner. I dare say I took both extremes too seriously, but I'm just telling you how it affected me.

TALKING of puppets, there was one classroom that seemed to be crammed with these little dollies. Tables and tables full of them. As I stood at the first table, just inside the door, a pal of mine stuck his head in and looked at the layout of costumed and very-much-home-made dolls and said to me in a loud voice: "What's this, Dave, a rummage sale? Oh no, I see it's Education."

The teacher didn't like this dialogue any better than I did. But where we differed was that she thought it was all my fault, and I didn't think it was entirely her fault. I guess non-teachers have more charity left than teachers . . . not having formed the habit of blaming the person standing nearest them.

Not that I scorn teachers for being unreasonable. Some of them become teachers because they're crazy, but most of them (poor souls) become crazy because they've been going round with children and school boards and parents too long. They have my deepest sympathy.

WELL, in one classroom you could hardly see the desks for the flowers on them. Flowers pinched from people's gardens. I dare say . . . they didn't grow there on the desks, because not enough earth falls onto the desks out of the pupils' fingernails. But if you brushed these educational blooms aside, you could find on each desk an ostentatious little document entitled "My Diary for a Week." A few were entitled "My Diary for a Week," but this was only a Grade V class and you must make allowances for Grade V teachers, because some of them are only 20 or 30 or 40 or 50 years old and have still got to catch up on themselves.

AFTER glancing at my son's diary to make sure he hadn't mentioned Life With Father, I took a gander at some of the other memoirs. This made me feel a dirty old skunk, somehow, but I was positively encouraged to do this Open House snooping, so I persevered.

And in one diary I read: "Today was my father's birthday, so I gave him two dollars." Boy, that really got me. Perhaps I'm unduly sentimental, but the thought of a little girl of 11 handing her old man two bucks made me blow my nose and cough. I dare say it made her father cough too. We fathers must be smoking too much. That's where the coughs come from. And that's where the bucks go. Still, by looking on the bright side, you can always pretend your tobacco cough is just an alcoholic cough, nothing more.

SOBER UP, FELLOWS

I SEE that the Health boys want to start some "small, well-run sanatoria" for alcoholics. Fine. Splendid. And the smaller they are, the smaller my cheque will have to be. Well run, sir! But don't you think that when the patients start to snap out of it, they might start spelling these places "sanatoria" with two A's and but a single I? I am going to endow a few small, well-run dictionaries. A sanatorium has now to do with sanitation. It concerns "sanare," which means "cure."

The Red Mill

As Our Readers See It

WHY AN INCREASE?

The strike vote of the Victoria carpenters shows the seriousness of the labor situation in this city.

For instance, McKinty and Son, G. H. Wheaton and our own firm only had a total of 13 carpenters voting, when in normal conditions any one of these firms would have had a larger number on their payroll. And yet the carpenters are asking an increase in wages.

For what reason? Not for greater productivity surely, as that should be the only basis for an increase since the cost of living index shows living expenses are decreasing at this time.

The writer has been hearing one theme of late (why should we be paid less than the Vancouver men? We are just as good as they). Let us consider this question from the employee's and employer's viewpoints.

From the union men who have worked in Vancouver and are now working here we have been told that last time due to weather conditions is quite an item in Vancouver, and they also state that time involved in getting to and from work is another bad condition there.

The contractors who have crews working in both cities can prove conclusively that the comparative production per man in Vancouver is greater than in Victoria, as there is a greater flow of men there, and firms do not hesitate to discharge employees if there is any lag.

Why do the carpenters claim they should be paid the Vancouver rate and ignore the fact that in Calgary they have signed up for $1.85 per hour? It is ridiculous that men are paid more here where they can work every week of the year while those men on the prairies have an uncertain time of it during the winter.

Surely the wages should be reviewed. And unless the construction workers do some sane thinking and acting the industry can not hope to operate on an even keel.

NAVY EXAMS

I regret my first letter was so badly worded as to have been misunderstood by some readers. Far from maligning the navy for being too hard on the students who are either too stupid, or too lazy to make a pass of sixty the first time they write an examination, I think they are far too lenient.

I was referring to the students who are ambitious enough to pass their first examination with a high mark. In the particular case I mention, if these men make a mark of 80 per cent average they receive their E.R.A. from which standing they can with further study become commissioned officers.

However, if they fail to make 80 per cent they do not receive it and are given no chance to rewrite their subject because they have passed the examination.

by more than 60 per cent average. This, I think, is very unfair; that because a man works hard he is denied a second chance.

CONSPIRACY!

Is it the voice of one crying in the wilderness against human suffering and corruption and inhumanity? It may interest your readers to know that they have just elected to power for another four years a government corrupt, as all human governments have been, to rule over them.

They still perpetuate the criminal conspiracy initiated by Israel of old and they can prove it by reading I Samuel 8:7 where the Lord proclaims "...I have rejected me that I should not reign over them."

LIGHT TOO LATE

Normally I find your editorials informative and interesting and enjoy reading them but I find it hard indeed to agree with you on daylight saving.

"Daylight is precious," yes; but that any is "saved" by manipulation of the clock, no.

I know many parents like myself who dislike daylight saving because of the problem of getting children to bed and then getting them up in time for school. At the time when the natural lengthening of the days is upsetting youngsters' bedtime a fool regulation regarding clock changing further aggravates the problem and makes it difficult to get children to bed at a time so that they can get adequate rest and still get up in time for school.

BEER AT SCHOOL

I was pleased to read "Observer's" comment "At School" in June 10 Times. I was four years at Naval College in Holland—1890-1894—and we had beer with our dinner there every day. I have never seen anybody get drunk of that beer; the quality, though, was often so bad that it was undrinkable.

Our "sanctimonious friends," to whom Observer refers, form the same bunch, generally speaking, who always talk a lot about "morality."

A few years ago there was another debate in the Times' column about this liquor business. I suggested then that those who oppose a sensible distribution should send a few of them to Europe and see for themselves how it is done there in different countries; they may get some sense then.

I don't think any of those countries stand on a lower moral plane than Canada.

Prisoners—Duty And Obligation

By WALTER LIPPMAN

From Washington

ANYONE inquiring about the Korean prisoners of war will find it impossible, I think, to learn who has been responsible for forming our policies. He may conclude that no one has been responsible.

Lippman

Consider, for example, the state of affairs in the compounds on Koje Island where the Communist prisoners ruled the roost until Gen. Boatner took measures to separate them into smaller and more manageable groups. He would not have had to do this if anyone in authority had foreseen what would happen if prisoners were congregated in an unmanageable mass. Was this something that could have been foreseen? It was.

Nobody in Washington or in Tokyo, moreover, seems at any time to have made it his business to consider seriously the great political and moral questions posed by prisoners of war in modern ideological conflicts.

Thus American field commanders in Korea were instructed to invite enemy troops to desert to our lines. Yet when enemy soldiers did desert to us, the officers who were responsible for handling them seemed to have had no instructions to take account of the promises which the field commanders were making.

So instead of protecting the deserters, to whom we had made promises, we treated them not as refugees but as ordinary prisoners of war, and proceeded to send their names to the enemy, not stopping to think what this might mean to their families at home if they did not go home when the fighting ended.

One would have supposed that this was enough blundering, and that the President would then have been advised to see to it that somebody in high authority—in very high authority—put his mind seriously on the mounting and ever more complicated problems of the prisoners of war. The problem was how to honor our commitment to the prisoners and to do this within the framework of international law and the bounds of a wise policy—and to do nothing that could be avoided which would make it more difficult to get back the American and other U.N. prisoners of war now in Communist hands.

HONOR BOUND

We are in honor bound not to repatriate all the prisoners. The problem has been how to select—in army language to "screen" out—the individuals whom we could not honorably send back. This screening raises questions of the greatest importance and of extreme delicacy. It involves the Geneva Conventions, the usages of international law, and the vital interests of American and Allied soldiers who are now prisoners of war and of those who might become prisoners of war in the future.

In the case of the prisoners of war the question is not: Does a man say he will resist repatriation—knowing that if he says it, he will be excused from going home? The question is whether he ought to be granted the privilege of asylum. The answer to that question can be given only by humans and impartial judges. They must decide whether the prisoner should be granted asylum because we induced him to desert or because he is ideologically marked and committed, or because for some other reason he would be in special danger.

The prisoner himself is an important witness in reaching this judgment. But the crucial principle is that his preferences and his opinions cannot, as they have been in the Koje screening, be treated as final. The final decision must rest with some kind of tribunal set up to distinguish within the limits of human fallibility whether a prisoner is in fact a refugee in need of asylum.

Ups and Downs

"I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "where they're developing reversible styles for the ladies this year. For instance, one grey dress they talk about, if you take off the jacket and turn the skirt inside out you get an entirely different outfit to dance in. But the most interesting one was a wedding gown. The item says, 'A flick of the wrist and the long wedding dress became a short one. A second flick and off came the filmy bolero and the bride was ready for a formal party.' There seems to me to be a lot of hopes wrapped up in that one. Off with the wedding dress—on with the party dress. But for most brides it doesn't seem to work out that way. It's off with the wedding dress—on with the house dress. Off with the bouquet—on with the scrubbing brush. Off with the romantic dreams—on with the job. Going down!

"However," said the Elevator Man, "I guess there's no harm in them dreaming for a while. After a few wearings the converted party dress won't be so important anyhow. 'What! Wear that old thing again! Why, I've had it for ages!' Then it likely gets demoted to house dress and work dress. It can even become a play costume for the kids. Then end up as dusters. That's life. Lower main!

"After all," said the Elevator Man, "you can hardly expect our clothes to have a different life from us. We go through the same cycle ourselves. The long days of creation and preparation. The peak hour of glory. The little time of enjoyment. The long period of work and duty. The final days of retirement. Then dust to dust. And it would all add up to futility if we were not more than clothes or clothes dummies. But man has memory, which inanimate things lack. And the years of work and retirement can be made happier by memory of that brief hour of brightness when we shone before the world and life was a bridal day. We can't trail that cloud of glory with us to the end. Our garment of life may be turned to present a less glorious view to the world. But if the material is good the value will not die."

India has exported 47,185 monkeys so far this year, most of them coming to North America for use by scientists in experiments with diseases that afflict man. It is unfortunate for these Rhesus monkeys that they so closely resemble man that they are the most useful warm blooded animals for use in laboratories. The Indian figures show to what an enormous extent civilized man is indebted to his lowlier brethren in the animal world for work designed to further the progress of medical science.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Thunderstorm Rips Roof, Flips Garage

WINNIPEG, June 16 (CP)—Thunderstorms ripped and ripped over southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan Sunday to bring a welcome half-inch of rain to thirsty crops.

Some freak weather effects and the season's first widespread thunder and lightning barrage accompanied the rain.

A prairie cyclone ripped the roof off a hotel at Rocanville, Sask., near the Manitoba border 130 miles east of Regina.

The wild thunderstorm, hitting early in the morning, also damaged a 20x15-foot garage beyond repair when it flipped the building across a lane and left it on the kitchen roof of a house.

Another garage was moved eight feet, car and all.

Half the tin roof of a skating rink was rolled back; and three buildings were struck by lightning.

EVACUATE BUILDING

The hotel roof, 20x30 feet, was torn off and water poured into the top floor. Lightning then hit the uncapped building, but proprietor Jack Dawson threw the main electric switch and prevented fire. The building was evacuated.

Grand Forks, N.D., south of Winnipeg, received a battering from winds reaching 70 miles an hour about the same time as the Rocanville storm.

Meanwhile, southern Manitoba crops received what the Winnipeg weather office said would be "general" half-inch of rain. The average fall was slightly less in southern Saskatchewan.

Manitoba Tories Criticize Federal Policies

WINNIPEG, June 16 (CP)—Resolutions saying the federal government and the Manitoba legislature were providing "government by order-in-council and referendum" and "gerrymandering constituency boundaries for purely partisan advantage" were passed by the Manitoba Progressive Conservative convention here at the week-end.

In other resolutions, convention delegates said the Dominion government should pay part of school building costs in all provinces; favored a free gold market and opposed gold mining subsidies and condemned the federal agriculture department's handling of the foot-and-mouth disease outbreak.

Delegates also asked for an interim payment on oats for the 1951-52 crop year from the Canadian wheat board and condemned the federal government for "its record of marketing Canadian agricultural products."

In the 20 years from 1929 to 1949, value of Canadian lumber production rose from $125,000,000 to $355,000,000.

It must have been a pleasing sight for Bruce Humber. He saw a bumper crowd of Olympic-conscious Victorians sit through a numbing wind to watch the cream of British Columbia's track crop run through their paces and then saw the athletes tread the track to a thrilling display of entertainment in spite of the wind that threatened to ruin the entire evening.

It was Olympic Preview night and fans and participants alike knew it, making competition and interest run high.

Colorful R.C.M.P. Officer Dies While on World Tour in Sweden

REGINA, June 16 (CP).—A colorful figure in the history of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, former Assistant Commissioner C. D. (Denny) Lanaue, 64, of Calgary, died Friday at Goteborg, Sweden.

Word was received in Regina Friday that the assistant commissioner, who solved one of the R.C.M.P.'s most celebrated cases, died while on a world trip with his wife. The cause of his death is not known.

Assistant Commissioner

Lanaue was born in Ireland in 1888. He joined the R.C.M.P. in 1908 and served with the force for 35 years. His father, Sgt. T. J. Lanaue, was a member of the Northwest Mounted Police, forerunner of the present-day R.C.M.P.

Assistant Commissioner Lanaue gained country-wide attention in 1913 when, as a member of the Arctic Patrol, he led an investigation which solved the murder of two French missionaries.

Acting on a rumor of trouble in a remote northern area, he led a police party from Great Bear Lake to Coronation Gulf in the Arctic Ocean, where they arrested two Eskimos for the murder of the missionaries. The investigation lasted 28 months between the time the party started for Coronation Gulf and the Eskimos were taken to Calgary for trial, where they were found guilty of murder and sentenced to death. The sentences later were commuted to life imprisonment.

Assistant Commissioner

He retired from the force in 1943 and moved to Lacombe, Alta., where he served as a police magistrate. In 1950 he moved to Calgary, where he began the world tour that had taken him to England, Belgium and Holland before his death in Sweden.

During an active life, he gained a reputation as an outdoor sportsman and excelled at big-game hunting. A close friend of the commissioner, R. L. Hutchinson of Regina, said the former officer had contributed more to a better understanding between the R.C.M.P. and the public than any man on the force.

"He could say hello to the common man and he could hobnob with royalty," Mr. Hutchinson said. "Every man was his friend."

On two occasions the assistant commissioner did meet royalty. In 1911 he was one of 80 officers sent to England to attend the coronation of King George V. In 1939 he and other officers entertained King George VI and Queen Elizabeth at the Regina barracks, during the royal tour. He is survived by his widow, Pella; two sons, William, a lieutenant-commander with the Royal Canadian Navy at Halifax, and George, an officer with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Wainwright, Alta.; and two daughters, Mrs. Clifford Ward of Ottawa and Mrs. Kenneth Keoughan of Vancouver.

The funeral likely will be held in England, where the assistant commissioner's mother is buried.

DEMOCRATIC METHOD

GUERNSEY, Channel Islands (CP).—A proposal to bar Communists from membership in the British Legion was defeated by 430 votes to 126 at the legion's annual conference here. Sir Ian Fraser, blind president of the legion, said the way to deal with political thought is by "argument and reason, not by banning."

In 1921 he again received the attention of the country for his leadership of troops during a coal strike in New Brunswick. In 1939 he was appointed an assistant commissioner and posted to Regina to command the Saskatchewan division.

RETIREES FROM FORCE

He retired from the force in 1943 and moved to Lacombe, Alta., where he served as a police magistrate. In 1950 he moved to Calgary, where he began the world tour that had taken him to England, Belgium and Holland before his death in Sweden.

ISLAND DIGEST

NANAIMO, June 16—Recent shut-offs of the city water supply for repairs have been blamed for complaints that dirty milk bottles have been turned out by Nanaimo dairies.

A. E. Hill, sanitary inspector for the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit, said sediment found in bottles came from water, and that pressure was not sufficient at times to clean bottles thoroughly.

COURTENAY, June 16—Comox Indian tribal songs were recorded during a visit here by Mrs. Mildred Valley Thornton, Vancouver artist. Singer was Mrs. Mary Moon, aged matriarch of the tribe and last person in Comox to remember the ballads. She also sang ancient songs of the Haida, Saanich, and Fort Rupert Indians.

COBBLE HILL, June 16—R. W. Alexander of Four Acres believes he has a record crop of 302 set fruit on one strawberry plant. It is of the British Sovereign variety.

DUNCAN, June 16—School board of Cowichan District 63 will not have its "Hansard." Trustee C. J. White, who made a resolution some time ago that a stenographer take complete notes of all board discussion, found most trustees opposed to the idea and agree to abandon it.

DUNCAN, June 16—Work will begin immediately on construction of a curling rink on land secured from the Community Centre Association. It will have five sheets of ice.

DUNCAN, June 16—One of the main Dominion Day attractions here will be a folk dance festival with 100 dancers in costumes from six European countries taking part.

There will also be a parade, R.C.A.F. air show, loggers sports, a horse show, baseball, and other carnival attractions.

DUNCAN, June 16—After months of negotiation to secure property for a school site at Herd and Bell-McKinnon Roads, Trustee C. J. White suggested at a District 63 school board meeting that a second piece of land on the Island Highway, one-quarter mile from Herd Road, be purchased.

Within 45 minutes the board had bought the second property and will begin work on the proposed Somers school immediately.

Truck Driver Charged After Highway Crash

Involved in a collision at Craigflower and Cooper's Roads May 12, Vernon E. Erickson, Honeymoon Bay, was fined $35 and $5 costs for careless driving in provincial court here last week.

He pleaded guilty. Erickson's unloaded logging vehicle was in a crash with a one-ton truck, about $400 damage being done.

BUCKSHOT FOUND MIXED WITH CANNERY'S PEAS

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 15 (AP).—A cannery was working away on peas when someone discovered the peas were mighty hard. About as hard as buckshot.

In fact they were buckshot, officials discovered after opening some of the cans.

The cannery blames it all on the fact that the state trap-shoot tournament was held here last week, adjoining a 20-acre pea field.

Newark Airport Reopened Despite Protests

NEWARK, N.J., June 16—Newark's multi-million dollar airport, closed four months ago following three crashes in nearby Elizabeth, reopened today over protests of fearful neighboring residents.

The sprawling $54,390,000 airport was "open for business" again but a spokesman said he did not believe commercial airlines would start using the runways until the latter part of the week.

"It's just like a hot dog stand," superintendent Archibald Armstrong said. "It's open for business, come what may."

Armstrong emphasized that by "come what may" he meant that the airport was prepared to handle its former average of 300 planes per day and was not referring to threats of legal action from residents of Elizabeth, scene of three plane crashes last winter that killed 119 persons, including many Elizabeth residents.

A committee representing the mayors of Newark and Elizabeth started drafting a plea to Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll to close the airport, one of the nation's largest, again.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

The latest threat to your physical safety in an automobile has been termed "highway hypnosis."

The executive director of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators explains that "highway hypnosis" occurs after long miles of driving on straight, smooth, super-highways, with no curves, bumps, or distractions. Reflexes tend to slow down to the point where drivers may become literally hypnotized.

Well, this is one ailment we Vancouver Island drivers need not fear.

In fact, one driver we know was commenting on the wonderful recreation facilities in and around Victoria. "Victoria has more government-owned golf courses than any other city of its size," he claims. "Why, driving home the other night, I counted 18 holes in nearly every block."

Bill Herbert, of the C.B.C., was searching for human interest material to feature on the coast-to-coast broadcast from H.M.C.S. Cayuga, which returned home Saturday after nearly a year at sea.

"Have there been many new fathers this trip?" he asked Cmdr. James Plomer, the commanding officer.

"About a dozen," replied Cmdr. Plomer, then added hastily, "but none in the last three months."

One of my friends who was disappointed in the way the liquor plebiscite went insists on having the last word.

"Alcohol," he says, "is a liquid which preserves almost everything except secrets."

And you can add to your list of definitions. A bachelor is a man who never quite gets over the idea that he is a thing of beauty and a boy forever.

A car bearing Mid-Western U.S. license plates was parked on the side of the Gorge Road the other day, and its occupants were admiring the scenery, when one of my spies overheard the following conversation:

Man: "What do they call this again?"

Woman: "The Gorge."

Man: "Hmmm. . . I see now what Mark Twain meant when he wrote about the Missouri River. . . He said it was a little too thin to walk on, and a little too thick to swim in."

You will please pardon me if I hurry away. I have some Christmas shopping to do.

And I emphasize that this is not a joke. Parcels for the eastern Arctic area, Hudson Bay, Hudson Strait, and Baffin Island, must be mailed by the third week in June.

Take a tip from the post office department, and don't disappoint your friends in Sugluk. Do your Christmas mailing early.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Collision with a telephone pole at Quadra and Pembroke early Sunday caused medium damage to a car driven by Fred R. Gamwell, 3135 Yew, police reported.

In fairly good condition at Jubilee Hospital today is a 71-year-old pedestrian, Edward Stahl, 751 Market, who was struck by a car at Johnson and Broad Saturday afternoon.

Stahl suffered shock, cuts and bruises. Car involved was driven by Glen Lageri, 841 Bay, police said.

Seattle visitor John Popich was the victim of a thief who stole $5 in silver and two shirts from his Yates Street hotel room over the week-end, police were told Sunday.

Victoria Real Estate Board will hold a luncheon meeting in a private dining room, Empress Hotel, Wednesday, June 18, at noon. J. I. Stewart, Ontario director of education, will speak on "Ethics of the Profession."

Leopold Langlois, parliamentary assistant, is representing Postmaster General Alcide Cote at the seventh annual conference of the B.C. Branch of the Canadian Postmasters' Association, which opened in Empress Hotel today.

The postmasters' three-day session will cover last year's business, election of officers, and will feature discussions led by district post office inspectors.

Full Honors for Naval Officer

Full naval honors were accorded Lt. Cmdr. Edward Litchfield Borradale at his funeral from St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, this morning.

Lt. Cmdr. Borradale was killed Wednesday when a wartime mine he was examining exploded.

CASH, BUT NO CASHEWS IN BARGAIN BAG

A city woman got more than she bargained for after ordering a mixture of nuts from the Nut House on Yates Saturday night.

Included in the order was the store's receipts for the day—$90 cash.

She returned the money and learned that one of the store's clerks had put the cash in a nut bag and the nuts in another identical bag, but passed the cash bag over the counter instead of the cashews. Or was it peanuts? Nuts, anyway.

Fire Guts Plant

Faulty Wire Cause Of Costly Blaze

Fire which started from a short-circuited length of electric cord early today left one of Victoria's new industries a water-soaked and smoke-blackened ruin.

Gutted was the McCurdy Hosiery Company at 35 Erie.

Damage may run into the thousands of dollars, but it was learned that the $25,000 building and equipment is fully covered by insurance.

The company had been operating for one year. Owner is Wesley McCurdy.

Nearly 20 employees arrived at work to find the building ankle-deep in water, costly machines blackened by fire and stocks of hosiery charred by the heat.

The blaze was first spotted by a commissionaire at the V.M.D. plant nearby.

James Bay fire station equipment answered the alarm at about 4 a.m.

Fire Chief Frank Briers said there was little flame—damage was caused primarily by smoke and intense heat.

The fire started electric wiring leading from the building, plunging the district into darkness and cutting off power.

Mr. McCurdy said work had stopped in the building Friday although there was someone present Saturday and he had visited the building Sunday for a short time.

Parking Meter Looting Brings Lenient Fine

Magistrate H. C. Hall fined a 35-year-old city man $100 in police court today on a theft charge after telling him he would treat the case with leniency in view of the accused's past good record.

Fined was Lucien J. Vaast, 3273 Wicklow.

Said the magistrate: "It is clear up to the present that you have a very good record, but it is a serious misfortune that you find yourself in this position."

"In view of your past record, I am going to give you the opportunity of paying a fine."

Vaast was arrested by police following their investigation into the theft of money from city parking meters.

He was represented in court by lawyer H. K. Balf.

Young Wins Again In Cruiser Alcion

Max Young became the first double-winner of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's Ben Temple memorial trophy when he sailed his auxiliary cruiser Alcion across the finish line in the annual William Head race Sunday.

He took the trophy for the first time last year.

Winners of other Sunday races at the club: Lightnings, Eric Dowell in Ariel; Stars, Peter Townshend in Aquila; snipes, Betty Brown in Wee Joe.

ISLAND BATHERS WARNED OF MAN-EATING SHARK

DUNCAN, June 16—A large shark, believed to be of a dangerous variety, has been seen within the last few days at Maple Bay.

"I would advise care in swimming in this vicinity," Cmdr. G. B. Barnes, who first saw the huge fish, warned today. "It definitely is not a mud or basking shark native to these waters."

"I saw it in shallow water just a few days ago," he said. "I rowed my dinghy right over it, and could have killed it if I'd had a gun. It was only two or three feet beneath my boat."

It was first seen at Osborn Bay, where sailors on a ship shot holes in its fin with rifle bullets.

Cmdr. Barnes said he had seen many sharks in tropical waters, and had always given them a "wide berth."

The shark here, he said, probably followed the Japanese current from Southern waters, then was "lost" and strayed into Georgia Straits.

Cayuga Dollars Aid Sea Cadets

No Scars of War On Gleaming Ship Back From Korea

By MONTE ROBERTS

She swept down Juan de Fuca Strait, her brightwork gleaming, her paint shining, as proud and ship-shape as though she were just out of drydock.

But H.M.C.S. Cayuga had nearly 60,000 sea miles behind her, and there ocean had been her home for a year less four days.

Officers and crew are proud of Cayuga, proud of the way she did whatever was asked of her, proud of this Canadian-built destroyer which was delayed by less than three hours due to mechanical breakdown during 233 days actually at sea in the theatre of operations.

They were determined she'd come home, fit and shining, so they spent all day Friday painting. And on Saturday, as Cayuga turned up a smooth 20 knots, they were still polishing brass and scrubbing decks.

"They are a great crew," said Cmdr. James Plomer, "and she is a great ship, a tribute to Canadian shipbuilding."

He reports that the naval side of the Korean war was "toughest" during the middle of last winter. "Shore batteries on both east and west coast have taken quite a beating from sea and air," he stated.

NOT GARRULOUS

Few of the crew were inclined to talk about experiences in action, although they admitted they had been "lucky" in coming throughout unscathed.

Most of them were filled with plans for the lengthy leaves they have coming.

P.O. William Patterson, 3805 Carey Road, one of the re-commissioning crew in 1949, is putting a few hundred miles between himself and the nearest ocean. He's off to Lethbridge by car. P.O. Murray Donald, Belmont Park, arrived home in time for his daughter Marcelline's birthday.

A.S. Allan G. Rands, 410 Kerr Avenue, claims the tour was a "financial success." He drew $380 pay on Saturday, and during the time he was in Korea, sent home nearly $500 for his savings account.

One ex-member of Cayuga's crew is remembered with mixed emotions. Ferdinand Demara, alias Joseph Cyr, was a "good guy," but Cayuga's men do not appreciate the publicity he showered their way.

Lieut. Allan Jenkins, naval information officer returning from the Far East in the ship, said Demara had been responsible for the "table-top operations" stories himself.

"The operations described in the first news release came from Demara himself, and he was enthusiastic about their publication," he said.

Cayuga's officers and men have scattered to their homes or vacation spots, and the ship itself is due for full refit.

Carpenters to Decide Strike Action Tonight

Victoria carpenters are expected to decide tonight on their proposed strike action to secure higher hourly pay.

Some carpenters already have stopped work. They were employed on new construction at B.C. Forest Products, and respected the picket line organized by workers of the striking I.W.A.

The woodworkers' picket lines will be respected everywhere by carpenters, according to a union official.

There has been no word yet on the granting of a government-supervised lockout vote to Victoria contractors, which was applied for Saturday. This follows the action of Vancouver contractors, who called a lockout when carpenters walked off several jobs in support of striking carpenters in Courtenay and Campbell River.

Jodi, three-and-half-year-old daughter of Lieut. and Mrs. Allan Jenkins, 686 Hampshire Road, wonders who this strange man is. On first meeting her father, who has been serving in various parts of the Pacific for nearly 12 months, she did not know him, and it took the combined efforts of both parents to convince her that he was, indeed, "daddy." (Times Photos by Halkett.)

"Boy, isn't he big," says L.S. E. Wittchen, as he gets his first look at son, Randy, when Cayuga docked Saturday. Randy was only two months old when L.S. Wittchen sailed for Korean waters, is now 14 months. Mrs. Wittchen is happy that the family will be re-united, while her husband enjoys his hard-earned leave at their home, 1629 Tolmie Avenue.

"This," says AB. R. S. Roe of Vancouver, "was worth waiting for," as Phyllis Lowe gets ready to prove she hasn't forgotten her sailor. Miss Lowe was one of scores of relatives and friends who laughed, cried and cheered as H.M.C.S. Cayuga docked at Naden jetty after her second tour of duty in Korean waters.

Car "Borrower" Jailed On Two Court Charges

A 25-year-old Vancouver man drew a six-month jail term today when he appeared in city police court for sentencing on a charge of taking a car without the consent of the owner.

Sentenced was Sham Williams. His term will run concurrently with a 30-day sentence he drew in provincial court last Tuesday on a charge of impaired driving. The two charges were connected, police said.

Williams had nothing to say as sentence was passed by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Fined $30 was Francis H. Carr, 2056 Allenby, after he pleaded guilty to violating a restricted driver's license.

A motorist who told police he "fell asleep at the wheel" before crashing his car into a telephone pole was fined $35 and received a license suspension on a careless driving charge.

Fined was Albert Hayward, 1295 Hastings.

Stanley Palmer, James Island, was fined $35 and received a license suspension on a similar charge after pleading guilty.

Willis H. Clarke, 320 Menzies, was fined $25 for failing to have a current driver's license.

Fined $30 on a careless driving charge was Sidney Camp, 937 Johnson.

$1,000 From Canteen Fund Donated Following Slashing of City Grant

Rainbow Sea Cadets of Victoria have been voted $1,000 from H.M.C.S. Cayuga's canteen fund.

Paymaster Lieut. William Davies will turn the money over to Sea Cadet officials within two weeks.

The vote took place at a canteen meeting off Korea, shortly before the ship sailed for home. A seaman referred to a story in The Daily Times, telling of city council's decision to cut the civic grant to the cadets, in line with its economy program.

"These kids will be doing our job one day," he said. "How about giving them a hand?"

First figure suggested was $250. Then someone said "Let's not be pikers, make it $500."

The final amount suggested was $1,000. It was put to a vote, and passed unanimously.

Sea Cadet officials when told by The Times that the money had been voted, were "overwhelmed."

'INSPIRATION'

"This is the greatest thing that has happened to Rainbow Sea Cadets," said Forrest L. Shaw, chairman of Victoria division, Navy League of Canada. "It will give up a chance to really build up the sea cadets here. And it will be an inspiration to the cadets to learn how they are regarded by men of the fighting navy."

Lieut. T. A. Dando, commanding officer of Rainbow Sea

CITY SEA CADET BRITAIN-BOUND

Petty Officer Leo G. Temple, 16, of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps (Rainbow), left on this afternoon's steamer for Vancouver to join 33 other young cadets from various parts of Canada chosen to attend Empire Camp in England this summer.

He has been in the corps nearly four years and is a Victoria High School student.

Berry Men Face Ruinous Prices

Holland Growers Offering Canners Fruit at Half Cost Previously Paid

Foreign competition threatens to obliterate British Columbia's $3,000,000 strawberry industry, it was learned today from the Department of Trade and Industry.

The threat comes from Holland which is underselling on the open market the B.C. product by nearly half the price, it was stated.

Holland, which produced a bumper crop of berries this year, is offering Canadian canners cut prices for frozen strawberries and strawberry pulp. The import of large quantities of strawberries into Canada would virtually ruin the growers.

Statistics show that over $1,500,000 worth of strawberries are sold by B.C. growers to Canadian manufacturers. Canners pay a higher price than wholesalers pay for fresh strawberries.

B.C. growers charge Holland with "unfair competition" and "dumping."

OTTAWA DISCUSSION

The situation is so serious that Chas. E. S. Walls, secretary-manager of the British Columbia Federation of Agriculture, has left for Ottawa to discuss the matter with federal department of agriculture officials.

Mr. Walls will seek the implementation of an escape clause to the Geneva Agreement as a means of protecting British Columbia growers from imports of Dutch fruit pulp at ruinous prices.

The situation is a ticklish one for the provincial department of trade and industry.

R. S. O'Meara, trade commissioner, said the Department of Trade and Industry is "sympathetic" to the case of the B.C. growers.

HANDS ARE TIED

He pointed out, however, that the department can do nothing unless there is proof of "unfair competition and dumping."

He disclosed that he was seeking information from The Hague Embassy, Holland, with regard to the strawberry crop in that country.

Meanwhile, Federal Department of Agriculture officials pointed out that the problem was complex because Canada had a trade agreement with Holland.

"If it is fair competition we can do nothing about it," they said. "We can't jeopardize our whole trade with Holland."

Federal and provincial agricultural officials admitted that the threat to the B.C. industry was the most serious since local

BLOOD POOL ON HIGHWAY UNDER PROBE

Police Chief Vernon Lawley is investigating circumstances surrounding the discovery early Sunday of "about half a gallon of human blood" and parts of a car windshield found on the West Road.

The Central Saanich police chief said today blood was found on the road and at a spot about 50 yards from the road on property owned by W. G. Whitty.

Whitty told Chief Lawley that he heard the screeching of tires on the road about 2 a.m. and later found the blood and glass on the road.

A 27-foot skidmark was found on the Whitty property.

Chief Lawley said he has received no reports of a motor vehicle accident or fight in his municipality over the week-end.

"If a human being was injured in serious shape from losing that amount of blood," said the chief.

Discovery of a blood-stained handkerchief ruled out the possibility that an animal had been struck by a car, he said.

NO DECISION ON RECOUNT

No decision has been taken on a possible recount of first choice ballots in Victoria.

Returning Officer Alan MacFarlane said today that although several candidates favor a recount they have made no official request.

Candidates feel many errors would be revealed. Mr. MacFarlane said. But they would be satisfied with a check of the count rather than an official recount before a member of the judiciary, he added.

Chicago Interests Appeal Against Celgar Licensing

The William T. Joyce Co. Ltd. of Chicago has appealed to the provincial cabinet against Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney's decision granting Celgar Development Company a forest management license in the Arrow Lakes region.

The company holds land in the forest management area, but has never operated there.

After hearing last month, Mr. Kenney approved Celgar's application for a license covering nearly 1,000,000 acres. Celgar plans to operate an integrated forest industry including a sulphate mill, newsprint plant and sawmills.

Kootenay Forest Products Ltd., which has been opposing Celgar's application because it wants certain areas held out of the licenses area, has not filed notice of appeal to date.

Time limit on appeals expires June 26.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Family Vacation Is Fine— But Plan Week-End for Two

At this time of year everyone is vacation-minded. Thousands of families all over the country are planning a family vacation.

This, of course, is like running a three-ring circus, and if each member does what he or she wants, it will probably end with papa vaulting about on a fishing pole all day long, mother having her breakfast on a tray in a tree house, and the children whooping it up all over any spot you choose!

I suppose the family vacation is the quickest road to a nervous breakdown anyone could possibly select and yet this is something we should do periodically because neither children or parents should be without such memories. Time is kind in this way. No matter how hectic it was when it was happening to you, when you look back in future years, you will feel that you would not have missed it for anything.

You probably got bitten by every insect known to man and advertiser, cut your foot, blistered your back, slept on uncomfortable beds, drove hundreds of exhausting miles a day, junior had an upset stomach and Susy broke out in a rash, and you all returned home just a jump ahead of a straightjacket, but you had to do it anyway!

I wonder, however, if the glow of family pride and affection sometimes blinds husbands and wives to a vacation which would be very valuable and which they deserve every few years. This is the vacation taken together, without children.

One eminent judge who has granted thousands of divorces, places "no leisure hours together," as the number one reason for divorce.

There is no doubt about it, when father gets away from the pressure of work, and mother from the care of children, the personalities of both blossom and they rediscover themselves as individuals and each other as the gay companion they fell in love with.

Notwithstanding a few lurid headlines—most men and women work hard and are devoted parents. Think this over. Instead of a tiring family vacation this year maybe you would do better to stay at home except for a couple of week-ends. Take the children on one of them to a nearby spot and take one together, leaving the children at home. If there are no dotting grandparents around to take care of the small fry, you can probably arrange for two or three days away from them.

It is no vacation for a woman to take young children on a trip. Their care is twice as hard, and the man in the family is naturally caught in the hecticness. Maybe you would do well once in awhile to spend the money you were going to spend anyway on a family vacation and get two week-ends, and some extra help about the house.

If you are going on a camping trip and would like some helpful suggestions, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my leaflet No. 69, "Tricks in Camping," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Garden Party—Plans were completed at a meeting of Esquimalt Women's Institute for a garden party to be held on the Royal Naval and Garrison Church grounds on Thursday, Mrs. W. L. Gouge, president, View Royal and Craigflower Women's Institute, will open the affair. Convener is Mrs. B. Thomas. There will be stalls of home cooking, fancy work and white elephant. Afternoon tea will be served. Plans for a fall tea are in charge of Mrs. J. T. Jones. Mrs. Thomas presided.

Bell-Fenton Wedding Vows Spoken in First United Church, Saturday Night

Rev. Moir A. J. Waters heard the marriage vows of Phyllis, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, 1639 Hillside Avenue, and Joseph S. Fenton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Fenton, Dundee, Scotland.

Tall standard baskets of white gladioli decorated First United Church for the wedding. Pews were marked with clusters of bebe gladioli. Mrs. Roberto Wood played the organ and during signing of the register Pierre Timpe sang "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was a charming picture in her gown of nylon net and Chantilly lace, styled with a very full, floor-length skirt, complemented with a short lace peplum at the back and bodice featuring lily point sleeves and a nylon net yoke outlined with seed pearls. Her full-length veil of illusion net floated from a coronet of orange blossoms. She wore a Bulova wrist watch, gift of the groom, and carried white gardenias and stephanotis.

Matron of honor, Mrs. J. Shinnon, chose pale yellow taffeta, with matching headdress and carried a Colonial bouquet of complimenting carnations and early summer flowers. Bridesmaids, Miss Waverley Ball, sister of the bride, and Miss Lorraine McDonald, were in pale blue, with the same matching headdress and flowers.

Robert Fenton, Shawnigan Lake, stood with his brother as best man and Arthur Green and Denis Bodkin, both of Vancouver, were ushers.

Reception was held in Loughhead's Banquet Hall where Mrs. Ball in navy blue gown trimmed with pink, navy hat and accessories and with pale pink rosebud corsage and Mrs. C. Flitton, aunt of the bride, in a black and turquoise ensemble, assisted in receiving guests.

The three-tier wedding cake was arranged with vases of pale pink carnations and ferns and pink candles in silver holders. Leonard Harman, an old friend of the family, proposed the toast.

The young couple are now motoring to Kelowna through the United States on honeymoon, the bride travelling in an old rose knitted suit, white shortie coat, French grey hat and accessories and wearing a pale pink rosebud corsage. On return they will live in the Barclay Apartments, Victoria.

Summer camp of Vancouver Presbytery Young People's Union of the United Church will be held at the George Pringle Memorial site, Shawnigan Lake, from June 27 to July 1.

Rev. Horace Burkholder, Mountain View United Church, Vancouver, will give the theme address on "Stewardship." Mrs. H. Burkholder will give a leadership training course. Camp director is Miss M. Thomson of Nanaimo. Miss G. Chow of Vancouver is camp nurse.

A full program of fun, fellowship, worship, discussions, games, swimming and boating is planned for the attending young people. Miss Muriel Lee, 3172 Balfour Avenue, will receive registration forms.

Auxiliary Plans Tea In Aid of Cancer Clinic

A garden fete, in support of the Victoria Cancer Clinic, will be held on Royal Jubilee Hospital grounds in late July by the Women's Auxiliary to the hospital. General convener of the affair is Mrs. W. G. Crawford, assisted by Mrs. H. B. Nash. Conveners are Mesdames G. Masters, H. J. Pinhorn, J. A. Wilson, F. C. Dilalough, T. B. Lumsden, J. H. Newton, H. C. All-White Wedding Ensemble Chosen By Miss Peggie Godfrey for Wedding

White shadow-striped organdy fashioned the gown worn by Miss Margaret Lindsay (Peggie) Godfrey, for her marriage, late Saturday afternoon, to Peter Claude Douglas Powell, Port Alberni, in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay.

Archdeacon A. E. deL. Nunns read the ceremony for the only daughter of Commodore Valentine Stuart Godfrey, O.B.E., R.C.N., and Mrs. Godfrey, 1004 the son of Mrs. C. A. Powell, the groom, son of Mrs. C. A. Bechill-on-Sea, Sussex, Eng.

The bride was a charming picture as she entered the church on the arm of her father. Her gown, was styled with rippling full-length skirt, high round neckline and three-quarter length sleeves bound with white satin and wide belt of the same lustrous satin. She wore a white satin pillbox hat edged with seed pearls from which floated a finger-tip veil, covering her face. Short white cotton gloves, small white earrings and a bouquet of white stephanotis and baby ivy completed the ensemble.

Traditional organ music was played and special music "My Lady Greenleaves" and "Where Sheep Will Safely Graze." Mrs. G. R. Smith, matron of honor and Miss Janet Dennison, bridesmaid were gowned alike in white nylon marquisette, full skirted with soft pleating on the bodice extended over the shoulders. They carried sheaths of befe flame gladioli and wore wreaths of the same flowers in their hair.

Lieut.-Cmdr. G. R. Smith was best man and Don Aitken, James Helmcken and Edward Bagley, the ushers.

Examiner Says Canada Music Standards High

Westminster Abbey's Organist Here
Impressed by Youth's Musicianship

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Traveling across Canada from coast to coast has given Dr. William Neil McKie (pronounced "McK-eye," not "McK-ee") organist of Westminster Abbey, an accurate cross-section impression of the Dominion's musical talent.

Dr. McKie has been examining for the Royal Schools of Music Associated Board. He arrived in Victoria over the weekend to join Geoffrey Tankard in conducting the examination of L.R.S.M. candidates. The tall, slim, youthful-looking musician got off the Vancouver boat Saturday afternoon, rather overwhelmed by sharing his trip with a Kiwanian convention but still amused by and enthusiastic for all he had seen and heard in the thousands of miles he had traversed.

He was met by Dr. Richard Felton, local representative of the R.S.M. Associated Board; Charles Palmer, a former pupil, and Graham Steed, Christ Church Cathedral organist.

Dr. McKie is now nearing the end of his long schedule and far from being tired, bored or relieved, he is sorry. He has loved every minute of it because "the people are wonderful and so is the country."

Also, he declares he found the musical work in all phases and grades of the highest quality.

"It was stimulating," he told me, "to find such extraordinarily good work among the juniors." He considers Canadian youth fortunate in having sound training available.

Among the highlights of his career are his periods as city organist of Melbourne, Australia, and organist at Magdalen College, Oxford. He served for five years with the Royal Air Force and it was during that service that he received the appointment to Westminster Abbey; an appointment which he took up in 1946.

As it is traditional for the Coronation Committee to appoint the Abbey organist, Director of Music for the coronation, it is possible that Dr. McKie will be called upon to assume that responsible post.

While steering clear of any comment on the appointment, Dr. McKie did tell me that the music for the coronation is a distinctive and truly nationalistic feature. It is traditional for leading composers to be commissioned to write anthems and chorales celebrating the occasion.

I could not help feeling, convention permitting, that it would be a happy thought if a Canadian composer were to receive such a commission. After hearing Dr. McKie's enthusiastic endorsement of the part being played by Canadian musicians in London, the richness of talent in this country and the discerning attitude of people in Canadian cities, it seems to me that there is a distinct possibility of such a thing coming about.

Commons Hit By Rivalries Of Provinces

By JAMES R. NELSON

OTTAWA, June 16 (BUP) — Bitter political rivalries in Ontario, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia, may cause a snag in what would otherwise be smooth conclusion of the current session of parliament, informed sources said today.

Already one Liberal M.P. has asked to be taken of the redistribution committee which has been trying to rearrange constituency boundaries in line with last year's census. Arthur Laing (L-Burnaby) was replaced on the committee by E. T. Applewhite (L-Skeena).

But the biggest fights are yet to come. Opposition groups claim that Liberal members of the committee—who hold the majority on the sum proportion as the government's overwhelming strength in the Commons—are trying to draw the constituency boundaries to their own political advantage.

So far, the Saskatchewan subcommittee which has to decide how to reduce the riding's present membership of 29 to 18, hasn't got down to specific cases. But corridor reports have it that the riding of Lake Center, now held by John Diefenbaker, Saskatchewan's only Conservative member, will be merged with that of Moose Jaw, held by C.C.F.'ers Ross Thatcher.

Other ridings to be affected in Saskatchewan probably will be those of Agriculture Minister James G. Gardiner (Melville), and C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell (Rosetown-Biggar).

East German Army Plan Thwarted; Border Villagers Fight Eviction

By BRACK CURRY
BONN, Germany, June 16 (AP).—East Germany's Communist rulers are running into trouble—including some with the Russians—in their plans to rush creation of a full-fledged army on the side of the Kremlin. Allied intelligence officers said today.

The Red's troubles are manifold. First, the East German people are balking at remilitarization. Second, where is the money to come from out of an economy already hard-pressed by Russian exploitation? Third, the ever-suspicious Russians don't trust the Germans and, even if they did, they would hardly be prepared to give them heavy armaments free of charge.

This is the picture drawn by western intelligence:

There are indications the Russians have no intention of supporting rearmament on the scale announced. The East German Communists are reported aiming at 12 divisions with 375,000 men.

Shortly after throwing off the wraps for their rearmament program, East German leaders, headed by Deputy Premier Walter Ulbricht, asked Soviet authorities for financial aid. The Germans specifically want investments in industry to launch an armaments production program.

tion program and a reduction in the amount of goods shipped to Russia as reparations.

But Soviet authorities vetoed all the proposals. In addition, the Soviets have withheld any promises of military equipment to the East Germans.

Some officials believe economic exploitation of East Germany remains the main objective of the Soviets. East Germany now is delivering more and better goods to Russia than any other satellite. The total rearmament program charted by East German leaders would require large amounts of heavy equipment from the Russians and Soviet investments in East German industry.

Meanwhile, from Berlin dispatches it is learned 5,000 Communist police have quelled a spreading revolt by East Germans against their ruthless eviction from the border security belt facing West Germany.

CIVILIAN REVOLT
Fighting between Volkspolizei (People's Police) and desperate civilians flared in 16 border villages within the last four days. More than 30 casualties were unofficially reported. Scores were arrested.

Centre of the resistance to the Red security measures was the Soviet-occupied border state of Thuringia.

Biggest clash broke out between 1,000 townsfolk of Kaltenborn and 300 police reinforcements, called out last week to stop an attempt to liberate 52 families of "political unreliable" from the town jail.

Since then police detachments rounding up so-called "unreliable" for deportation from the security belt have been ambushed or openly attacked on repeated occasions.

Their patrol cars have been smashed and burned as entire villages have resisted.

Heavy police reinforcements have been rushed to the Thuringian border to try to restore order.

MAY FACE HEADSMAN
Under the Communist law for "protection of the peace" those arrested may be punished by long prison terms or even beheading for defying government security decrees.

Enraged farmers at Struedorf, Thuringia, seized axes and scythes in an attempt to beat off a police patrol trying to evict eight families and send them to a secret destination in the interior.

Three police were wounded before riot squads arrived, routed the farmers and raised the list of deportees to 20.

With more than 10,000 Communist police now engaged in weeding out undesirable, latest reports indicate the back of the revolt has been broken.

Louis XVI Phantom Gold Hunted in River Seine

By HARVEY HUDSON
PARIS (AP).—A phantom treasure that rumor says has been lying at the bottom of the Seine River since the days of the French Revolution, will be the object of a sixth recovery attempt shortly.

How the treasure got there—if indeed there is treasure—is part of the legend of the Telemaque, a little sailing ship that lifted anchor at Rouen on New Year's Day, 1790, on a voyage to England. The ship's manifest said it had a cargo of timber, nails and tar. The rumors insist that it was carrying 2,500,000 British pounds in gold, plus jewelry and other valuables being spirited out of the country by King Louis XVI already uneasy on his throne.

Details of the final voyage of the Telemaque are clouded by time.

It is agreed, however, that the Telemaque ran aground and the crew barely had time to swim for shore before the brig sank to the bottom of the Seine.

The government, taking cognizance of the rumors current about the treasure aboard, immediately sent 300 soldiers to the scene. They tried for three months to salvage the vessel without success.

Rumors of the treasure kept bobbing up. In 1837, a French engineer spent his own fortune vainly trying to prove the existence of the King's fortune. In 1842 an Englishman named Taylor made another effort without success.

After that, the Telemaque lay undisturbed for almost a century. Then a Paris syndicate tried again, and in 1939, after six months of searching had located the vessel. Divers reached into a barrel and brought out seven well-worn pieces of gold and some gold trinkets.

This find, Sept. 3, 1939—the day war was declared in Europe—

RAPID-FIRE HEN DEFIES X-RAY PROBE

CHICHESTER, Sussex, Eng. June 16 (CP).—Duplicate, the rapid-fire hen, from nearby Fisher Farm, isn't giving away any secrets about her mystifying rate of egg production, it appeared today.

X-ray pictures of the wonder hen, taken by the ministry of agriculture, didn't show anything freakish or unusual. Dr. W. M. Allcroft, the ministry's poultry expert, said today the experiment proved a flop.

was taken as proof the treasure really was there. The forward quarter of the ship, devoid of treasure, was brought up, but the German Army was moving into France and the work was abandoned in April, 1940.

The same men who directed the 1939 attempt are leading this year's try in which a huge diving bell will be used.

The findings will have to be split with the government, which still claims ownership.

SLAYER CONFESSES

British Spy Heroine Murdered in Hotel

LONDON, June 16 (Reuters)—Christine Granville, 37, diminutive blonde who was decorated as a British secret agent during the Second World War, was stabbed to death in a London hotel last night.

Police today questioned Dennis Muldowney, 41, in connection with the slaying.

When Muldowney appeared in court and was charged with murder, Chief Inspector G. W. Jennings of Scotland Yard said the man, a porter, had confessed.

"I killed her. Let's get away from here and get it over quickly," Muldowney was quoted as having said.

Mrs. Granville, a native of Poland was awarded the George Medal and created an O.B.E. for her underground fight against the Gestapo.

A widow who shunned publicity because she felt she had many enemies who might harm her if they could, Mrs. Granville was heard.
